Mr. Justice Jaga Mohan Reddy, while addressing the Gujarat High Court referred to the changing role of the judges :

In the past, a judge of High Court was not called on to discharge the functions now entrusted to him under the Constitution. He had only to decide civil and criminal matters and rarely did these matters extend beyond the scope of the parties involved in the litigation. After the constitution, Fundamental Rights have been guaranteed and the High Courts and Supreme Court having been made the guardians of those rights, the judges who have taken oath to uphold the Constitution and laws have been vested with wider jurisdiction anddeal with Art. 226 and Art. 32 with a variety of matters spread over the entire format of governmental administration – administration of public authorities discharging their statutory or quasi-judicial functions. Ever since the inauguration of our Constitution, every social change through legislation, every Constitutional amendment required to give effect to a particular policy or political philosophy was challenged in the courts who are to determine vital questions. Controversial matters naturally draw Judges and Courts the area of conflict and controversy. However, when the Government Act, is struck down, there is no need for frustration. The law laid down by the Supreme Court is supreme throughout the country. The remedy is only to set right what has been struck down and give the legislative measure the correct legal basis.
